

100-People Village

If the world is a 100 people village

UNICEF Hong Kong welcomes you in embarking on an exciting and fruitful year of charity, service, and community with the UNICEF Club.

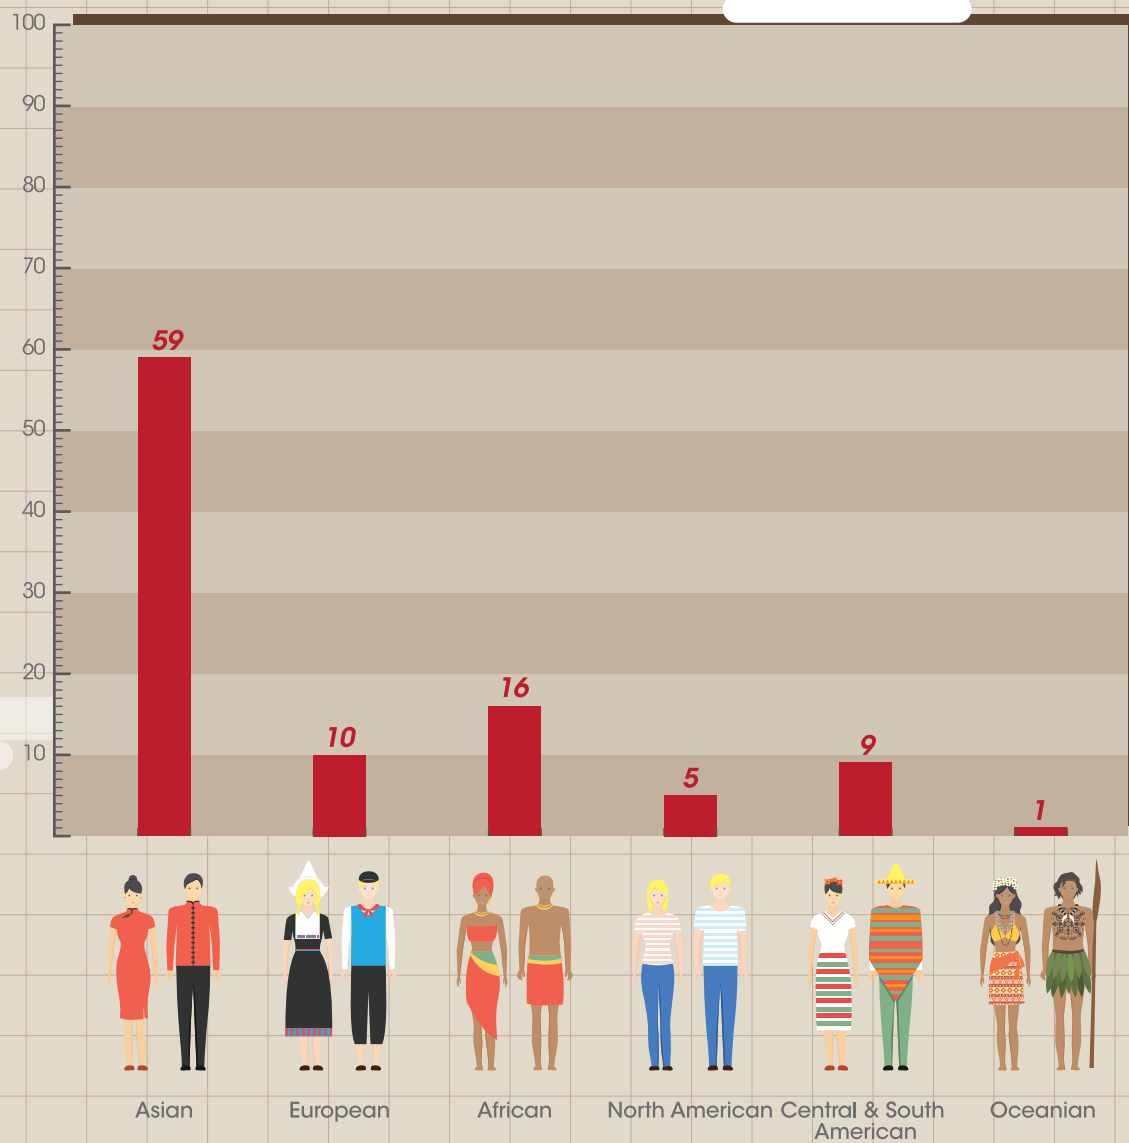

This year, we would like to kickstart the year by broadening our perspective of the world and deepening our understanding of global issues. We start by looking at what the world will be like if we shrink it into a village of 100 people.

Ethnicity

If the world is a village of 100 people, how many of us are African, Asian Central or South American, European or North American? Show us your guess with the bar chart below.

Convention on the Right of the Child (CRC)

Children are most vulnerable in underprivileged situations. To promote and protect children's human rights, the United Nations has since adopted CRC was in 1989. It is the first legally binding international instrument incorporating the full range of human rights for children. It articulates the full complement of civil, political, cultural, social and economic rights for all children.

Currently, 196 countries have ratified CRC. By ratifying this Convention, governments worldwide are committed to securing and ensuring children's rights, as well as to shoulder relevant responsibilities.

RACE

no matter what RACE, religion, ability, family unit, or the thing they think and say, a child has rights under the Convention.

LANGUAGE

every child has the right to his or her own LANGUAGE and culture. If a child belonging to an ethnic minority, we have to respect their rights and embrace the diversity.

POVERTY

all children must have their basic needs met, no matter how marginalized, POVERTY should not be the reason to deprive the rights to survival of children.

SHELTER

a secure SHELTER is one of the basic needs for children as it provides them protection against bad weather and violence.

FOOD

adequate FOOD is one of the basic needs of children. Children who are malnourished are much more susceptible to life-threatening diseases such as malaria and diarrhoeal infections.
